

THE HAWAI'I CONSERVATION ALLIANCE

Join us for a creative speaking experience

HE PŪKO'A KANI 'ĀINA

Biocultural Conservation Stories From Pacific Island Youth*

AUGUST 30, 2016 | 4-7PM | HAWAII CONVENTION CENTER
AUDITORIUM 310

PLEASE RSVP AT ISLANDSTORIES.EVENTBRITE.COM

A CREATIVE SPEAKING EXPERIENCE FEATURING YOUTH AND CULTURAL PERFORMANCES, LOCALLY GROWN FOOD TASTINGS RECEPTION, AND YOUTH-FOCUSED KICK-OFF TO THE 2016 IUCN WORLD CONSERVATION CONGRESS

HE PŪKO'A KANI 'ĀINA, is an 'ōlelo no'eau that means a coral reef that becomes an island over time, and can also signify someone growing in a positive way until they become established. Join us to connect youth voices from across the Hawaiian and Pacific Island through storytelling, spoken word poetry, and songs that reflect unique experiences in biocultural conservation. Learn from and network with Pacific and global island partners, colleagues, and mentors to inspire actions that will sustain the future of island livelihoods and ecosystems.

CHEFS INCLUDE: Chef Ed Kenney of Mahina & Suns, Chef Mark Noguchi of MISSION Social Hall & Café, Chef Anicea Campanale of The Nook Neighborhood Bistro and Chef David Passanisi of EAT Honolulu. Ono Pops will be there too!

KEKOA
KANE

PAULA FUGA

FOR MORE INFORMATION CONTACT COORDINATOR@HAWAIICONSERVATION.ORG OR (808) 944-7417

*The event features emerging professionals 18-35 years old, with experience or enthusiasm for traditional ecological knowledge, conservation, community development, youth inspiration, climate change, and/or culture, or related topics

IUCN
World
Conservation
Congress
Hawaii'2016

Hawaii' Conservation Alliance
FOUNDATION

KAMEHAMEHA SCHOOLS

HAWAII CONSERVATION
ALLIANCE

